To Whom It May Concern:

My name is Alison Young. I live in Gold Hill, OR. I don't think the Canadian border should be opened into the U.S. for cattle. One reason, there have been two Canadian cattle found with BSE. I don't think we should even let that be a possibility in the United States. "Canada is still feeding certain animal bi-products" which is not allowable in the U.S. and I don't think it should be.

Another big issue would be if they let Canadian cattle across the border, U.S. cattle prices would be dropped. It would end up hurting the cattle industry, and I think they should leave the Canadian gates closed. Hope you take my opinion into consideration.

Sincerely,
